Society Out in Force for First Day of Hunt Meeting.

BEST GENTLEMEN RIDERS

Ctar Cross Country Amateurs on Hand to Try Benning Course-Lieutenant Martin Is Game.

A bugle call appropriately opened the United Hunts race meeting at Benning this afternoon. Dressed in the regula-tion pink coat the bugler led the starters to the barrier, and the first race, an introductory scurry as it was called, was away.

Washington society was out in force. crowding the veranda of the Jockey Club and finding seats in the grandstand. In addition to these society folk were the members of the "Smart Set," in New York, Philadelphia, and Baltimore, who have come to Washington mont, president of the Hunts Associamont, president of the Hunts Associa-tions; Mrs. Belmont, Robert Goelet, E. C. Montaigne, Robert Gerry, Thomas Gerry, Mrs. J. L. Kernochan, the well-known horsewoman; J. Borden Harri-man, Mrs. Harriman, J. H. Good Horses Entered.

The entries for today included some of the foremost steeplechase horses of the country. The fourth race, the Capitol Steeplechase, is the big event of the day. Maximilian and Yama Christy are boked upon with favor by the knowing ones in this race. And in the third race, the Clark Cup Steeplechase, Anna Bruce, and Maple Leaf are the selec

In spite of the recent wet weather which has threatened to make the Benning course little more than a mud hole, the track and stands presented an attractive sight this afternoon. The going was heavy, particularly in the Infield, but the track itself is sandy and dries quickly and by Saturday should be in ideal condition. The stone wall and post and rail fences, an innovation in steeplechasing here, and used in some of the races instead of the water jumps and the liverpools, caused considerable comment.

Probably the best gentleman jockeys in the country will ride in this meeting. J. O'Brien, of New York, who has recently won several steeplechases on Metropolitan tracks; John Tucker, of Philadelphia; Mr. Baker, of Boston: Cortland Smith, of Virginia; Lee and Percy Evans, and Dion and Chester Kerr, of the Chevy Chase Hunt Club, will all ride.

The Grand Military.

The Grand Military.

Lieutenant Martin, of the Fifteenth Cavalry, in coming all the way back from Cuba to take part in the Grand Military Steeplechase on Saturday, has certainly shown a good sporting spirt. This race, for which Perry Belmont is the particular sponsor, will not have as the particular sponsor, will not have as many entries as was hoped. This is largely due to the trouble in Cuba, which so unsettled the plans of many army officers that they felt that they rould not make entry in the race. L. Voctor Froment, of Squadron "A," New York, is coming to ride either Dressmaker or the Virginian in the Grand Military. A telegram was received yesterday from G. F. Alpers, of Squadron "C," of Brooklyn, saying that he regretted his inability to ride in this race. Notwithstanding the fact that the number of entries in this race is small great interest is being manifested

Washington.

The big event of Saturday, the second day of the meeting, will be the Great United Hunts Steeplechase. Hylas, owned by Thomas Hitchcock, jr., which won the big Champlonship Stakes in New York recently, will be a starter. Yama Christy, of the Bonnie Brook Stable, Jimmy Lane, Mr. Cotton; Grandpa; entered by Wm. C. Hayes, who will probably ride himself; Dunsverrick, Dion Kerr, and Ruth's Rattler, C. C. GREAT BATTLE OF QUARTERBACKS

There is one great big football treat in store for those who see the Yale Princeton game at Old Nassau on November 17. There will be some quarter back play, the like of which has never been seen in the history of the gridiron. There have been Phil Kings, Charley and Johnny de Saulieses, Charley Dalys, Hutchinsons, and others, but none of this brilliant bunch has any thing on either Eddie Dillon, now playing on the Princeton team, or Tad Jones, of Yale, and, what's more, never did two such guarterbacks as this latter pair play in the same game. Jones is a wonder in a broken field; so is Dillon. Jones runs his team with great judgment; so does Dillon. Not one virtue has the one that the other does not duplicate, and each stands at the very top of what a quarterback should be. One of the greatest features of the Yale-Princeton game this year should be their electrifying runs through

Now Sebring has written President Murphy of the Chicago team, informing the latter that he will recort for the training trip next spring. Sebring will, however, probably have some trouble in getting himself reinstated, and the chances for his playing with Chicago next season are not the brightest.

Seeley, and was saddled by Frank Taylor, who once trained the famous Mchesney for E. E. Smathers. The stewards had no statement to make about the same as last year. The work of the Georgetown back-field was creditable, as was the punting of Hodgson, but the line gave a miscrable exhibition of beginners' football. The team will have stiff practice for having a good lead at the last quarter for the training trip next spring. Sebring will, however, probably have some trouble in getting himself reinstated, and the chances for his playing with Chicago next season are not the brightest.

The stewards were busy all the afternoon investigating the evidence in the case, with the result that a story was in circulation after the races that at least two prominent bookmakers who, it is alleged, laid against Radtke's mounts on several occasions, were under surveillance. John Hynes, the traineer of Tommy Waddell, whose handling by Radtke got the boy into trouble, was interviewed at length by one of the stewards between races.

It is stated, however, that the stewards will look into several other races in which Radtke had mounts, not ably the rides on Miss Crawford and Ballot at Belmont Park, and that the sheets on those races will be taken up, if that move has not been made already.

It is generally predicted that Radtke will be suspended by the Jockey Club for the halance of the campaign in the East, in which event he cannot ride at the winter tracks.

When Belcast won the third race yesterday there was a howl from the form players. In four previous races this colt, who once belonged to the Raineys, showed nothing. In each instance he finished so far back in the ruck that for yesterday's affair he did not seem to have a remote chance. But with a great turn of speed, at all times acting like a wild horse and always fighting for his head, Belcast ran away from his rivals and won in such a manner that the stewards immediately sat up and took notice.
